TAP INTO YOUR COMMERCE PARTNERS

Rural Economic Development is dependent on strong partnerships.

The North Carolina Department of Commerce Rural Economic Development Division (REDD) works with rural communities from Murphy to Manteo, to provide funding, technical assistance, training, and educational programming that helps communities build capacity and bring great ideas to fruition.

Join us for this session to learn more about Team REDD and the programs that are offered, including: the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC), Community Development Block Grants (CDBG), the Main Street & Rural Planning Center (MS&RP), Rural Grant Programs, and the Utility Account.

SPEAKER:

Kenny Flowers, Asst. Secretary for Rural Economic Development, Department of Commerce

In this role, Kenny provides guidance for the Department in its efforts to support rural communities and help foster rural prosperity. Kenny leads a team of community and economic development specialists that help communities make the preparations and infrastructure investments needed to attract business and industry, and spur economic growth.
